Preface

As per the Medical Council of India (MCI), it is recommended to maintain a logbook throughout the postgraduate tenure in community medicine, in which various teaching and training activities and sessional assignments completed during this study period are recorded. The daily performance of the students may be appraised/assessed through this Practical Logbook.

In view of the aforesaid recommendation, the Community Medicine: Practical Logbook for Postgraduate Students is designed to accommodate various teaching and training activities and sessional assessments performed throughout the postgraduate tenure in community medicine.

This logbook includes almost everything about teaching and training activities and sessional assessments of that student to whom it belongs. Along with personal details, it includes details of posting at various places, participation in postgraduate training activities, seminars presented, journal club presented, case presented, participation in conferences and workshops, research papers presented at various conferences, research papers published, participation in undergraduate teaching, etc. by the particular student throughout postgraduate tenure. It also includes details of family studied and various field visits related to health done by that student in this period.

This logbook also includes MCI recommendation for MD (Community Medicine) course, summative and formative assessment schedules along with the guideline for scoring.

In fact this logbook is the need of all postgraduate students in which they can write down their observations and teachers can check and sign the work done.

Hope this logbook fulfills the aim which it is intended for.

Of course, there is an open invitation to the readers and users of this logbook to furnish us with their suggestions which may help in further improvement. Good suggestions will be duly acknowledged.
